The Honorable

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

To correct errors, I recommend the following changes be made in Temporary Power Site Withdrawal No. 5, covering the Green River and tributaries, dated May 26, 1909 and approved by the Secretary on May 26, 1909:

Change "T. 35 N., R. 109 W., Lots No. 1 and 2, E ½ of N.W. ¼, Sec. 19."

To read "T. 35 N., R. 109 W., Lots No. 2, 3 and 4, S.E.¼ of N.W.¼, Sec. 19."

The Honorable

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

In accordance with your instructions of April 23, I have the honor to submit the following recommendation, which involves 25,086 acres, 5,455 acres being entered land:

Plotted

TEMPORARY POWER SITE WITHDRAWAL NO. 30.

(Green River and Tributaries, No. 2, Wyoming)

In aid of proposed legislation affecting the disposal of water-power sites on the public domain, all public lands in the following list are temporarily withdrawn pending examination from all forms of entry, selection, disposal, settlement, or location, and all existing claims, filings, and entries are temporarily suspended. All valid entries heretofore made may proceed up to and including the submission of final proof, but no purchase money will be received or final certificate of entry issued until further orders.

P.S.R. No. 115

Wyoming

February 9, 1910.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

On December 31, 1908, on recommendation of the Reclamation Service, 271,000 acres of land along the Big Horn River in Wyoming were withdrawn under the First Form of Reclamation Act in connection with the Yellowstone project, Wyoming. On April 5, 1909, the Reclamation Service recommended this land to be restored, for the reason that "it no longer appears necessary to the interest of the project," and the lands were accordingly restored by you on April 6, 1909.

On May 25, 1909, the Reclamation Service transmitted to this office a copy of this recommendation of restoration, together with other papers, with the statement that the same was a temporary power site withdrawal. The list was therefore reviewed in this office and it was reported to me that the lands withdrawn had no value for power purposes. No inquiry was therefore made at the General Land Office regarding ownership of the land. At the same time it was reported to me that the 54,400 acres of land along the Big Horn River in Montana, which had been withdrawn under the First Form of Reclamation Act on February 16, 1909, and restored on April 7, 1909, contained valuable power sites. Examination of the records showed that with regard to this portion of the river, half of it was in the Crow Indian Reservation, and it was felt that the ownership by the Indians would prevent development at these points, except with proper stipulations.

On September 3, 1909, I submitted to you tables comparing former withdrawals with those made under your administration, in which it was shown that this office had recommended no withdrawals on the Big Horn River either in Wyoming or Montana. With respect to the Wyoming portion of the river it was stated that "all lands along the river of value for power purposes were in private ownership at the time of the original withdrawal." This statement is incorrect, and its appearance in the table was due to a confusion of the facts in this case with those on the Swan River in Montana where all the lands were in private ownership. This statement was an accidental substitution for the one which was prepared to appear at this point, namely, "There is no power on this stream."

It now appears that the report of the Chief Hydrographer to me, that there is no power on the Big Horn River in Wyoming, was based on incomplete and incorrect information, and in order that this error may be corrected and that there may be no question whatever regarding the protection of power sites on the Big Horn River in Montana, I recommend the following withdrawal:

January 11, 1911.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

In power-site reserve No. 137 approved by the President July 2, 1910, withdrawing certain lands along Big Horn River, Wyoming, under the provisions of the Act of June 25, 1910, (Public 303), an error occurs in the description of the lands withdrawn in T. 39 N., R. 94 W., 6th P. M. Wyoming.

It was intended to withdraw Lot 3 of Sec. 7 of this township, but the order as approved by yourself and the President withdraws Lot 3 of Sec. 8 of this township, although no such legal subdivision exists.

I, therefore, request that the designation of the lands withdrawn be corrected to read Lot 3, Sec. 7 of T. 39 N., R. 94 W., 6th P. M. Wyoming. No change in the withdrawn area will be made by the correction.

Very respectfully,

Geo. Otis Smith

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

Information available in the Geological Survey shows that two feasible sites for storage reservoirs are located; one on Coyote Creek in Wyoming, and one on Yellow Creek, in Wyoming and Utah. It is believed to be in the public interest that unpatented lands affected be reserved from disposal and in accordance with your general instructions, I recommend the submission to the President for appropriate action of the following order of withdrawal. This order affects approximately 1,314 acres of vacant lands and approximately 400 acres of entered lands in Wyoming.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

An engineer of the Geological Survey has examined the lands embraced in Power Site Reserve No. 169, Encampment River, Wyoming, and his report, dated January 23, 1924, indicates that in addition to the said power-site lands those described in this order are essential for use in the development of the potential water power in this locality.

In accordance with your general instructions, I recommend the approval of the classification as power-site lands (Power Site Classification No. 58, Wyoming No. 2), of the following areas, involving approximately 5,270 acres. The lands listed are all shown to be public lands by search of status made by an employee of the Geological Survey on January 19, 1924.

Respectfully,

Geo. Otis Smith

Director.

I concur in the foregoing recommendation.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

An employee of the Geological Survey has surveyed the lands embraced in Power Site Reserve No. 138, Snoqualmie River, Washington, and his report, dated January 23, 1924, indicates that in addition to the said power-site lands those described in this order are essential for use in the development of the potential water power in this locality.

In accordance with your general instructions, I recommend the approval of the classification as power-site lands (Power Site Classification No. 88, Spreading No. 3), of the following areas, involving approximately 8,740 acres. The lands listed are all those to be public lands by reason of status made by an employee of the Geological Survey on January 19, 1924.

Very truly,

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

The accompanying order of classification embraces public lands in Wyoming, which are traversed by an electric transmission line of the Northwest Transmission Company, permit for which under the act of February 15, 1901 (31 Stat., 790), was granted by the Secretary of the Interior on October 1, 1927. The power is generated by steam and the line is operated as a private enterprise supplying power to one customer only, under contract. As the lands are used and required for power purposes, I recommend the approval of the classification as power-site lands (Power Site Classification No. 199, Wyoming No. 3) of the following described areas involving approximately 80 acres. The lands listed are all shown to be public lands by search of status made by an employee of the Geological Survey on February 17, 1928.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

The accompanying order of classification embraces lands adjacent to Snake River, Wyoming, which a field examination shows have value as power sites in connection with possible future water-power development. Three combined storage and power sites are estimated to have a combined capacity of 69,000 horsepower for 90 per cent of the time and 90,000 horsepower for 50 per cent of the time. As development of power is feasible and will require the use of the lands hereinafter listed, I recommend the approval of the classification as power site lands (Power-Site Classification No. 256, Wyoming) of the following areas, involving approximately 12,093 acres. The lands listed are all shown to be public lands by search of status made by an employee of the Geological Survey on March 21, 1933, and are partly within Targhee, Teton, and Wyoming National Forests.

Respectfully,

W. C. Mendenhall

Director.

I concur.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior. Through Bureau of Reclamation
Through General Land Office

Sir:

The accompanying order of classification embraces land adjacent to Owl Creek, Wyoming, which has potential value for flowage in connection with possible future power development. I recommend the approval of this order (Power Site Classification No. 370, Wyoming) involving an area of 535 acres. The land listed is shown to be public land by search of status by an employee of the Geological Survey on August 7, 1944.

Respectfully,

I concur. Oct. 20, 1944

Director.

The accompanying order of classification embraces land along Big Horn and le Fourche Rivers in Wyoming, which has potential value for flowage in con- tion with possible future power development. I recommend the approval of s order (Power Site Classification No. 375, Wyoming) involving an area of 187 acres. The lands listed are shown to be public lands by status furnished ormally by the General Land Office on April 16, 1945.

Respectfully,

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

A recent field examination of Power-Site Reserve No. 76, No Wood Creek, Wyoming, indicates that the portion of the stream adjacent to the lands listed herein is not valuable for the development of water power because the summer flow is fully appropriated for irrigation purposes. I therefore recommend the restoration of the following lands, aggregating 9,664 acres, of which 1,676 acres were reported as entered at the time of the original withdrawal:

ORDER OF RESTORATION NO. 18.

Power-Site Reserve No. 76

No Wood Creek, Wyoming.

So much of the order of withdrawal made heretofore for the purpose of reserving water-power sites as affects the lands hereinafter described is hereby revoked for the reason that the Director of the Geological Survey reports that field examination shows these lands not to be valuable for water-power purposes.

Basis for this recommendation is Hyde's memo. of Oct 6 1910 in 21-80-X

October 7, 1910.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

A recently completed field examination of lands included in Power-Site Reserves Nos. 5, 30, and 54, Green River and Tributaries, Wyoming, indicates that the lands listed below are not valuable for the conservation of water power and I therefore recommend the submission of the following orders of restoration to the President for appropriate action:

ORDERS OF RESTORATION NOS. 19, 20, & 21.

Green River and Tributaries.

Wyoming.

So much of the orders of withdrawal made heretofore for the purpose of reserving water-power sites, as affect the lands hereinafter described, is hereby revoked for the reason that the Director of the Geological Survey reports that field examination shows these lands not to be valuable for water-power purposes.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

A recently completed field examination of lands included in Power-Site Reserve No. 4, North Platte River, Wyoming, indicates that the lands listed below are not valuable for the conservation of water power and I therefore recommend the submission of the following order of restoration to the President for appropriate action:

ORDER OF RESTORATION NO. 22.

North Platte River, Wyoming.

So much of the order of withdrawal made heretofore for the purpose of reserving water-power sites, as affect the lands hereinafter described, is hereby revoked for the reason that the Director of the Geological Survey reports that field examination shows these lands not to be valuable for water-power purposes.

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

Recent investigations by the Survey of lands included in Power-site Reserve Nos. 80 and 84, Green River, Wyoming, indicate that a portion of the lands included therein are not valuable for the conservation of water-power, and I therefore recommend that the following orders of restoration be submitted to the President for appropriate action. The area restored in Power-site Reserve No. 80 is 19,277 acres of which 4,801 acres were reported entered, in Power-site Reserve No. 84,551 acres of which 89 acres were reported entered.

Very respectfully,

Director.

January 30, 1911.

Respectfully referred to the President with favorable recommendation.

Secretary.

ORDERS OF RESTORATION, NOS. 36 and 37.

Green River, Wyoming.

So much of the orders of withdrawal made heretofore for the purpose of reserving water-power sites, as affects the lands hereinafter described, is hereby revoked for the reason that the Director of the Geological Survey reports that field examination shows these lands not to be valuable for water-power purposes.

And it is further ordered that such lands shall be restored to the public domain and become subject to settlement under the general provisions of the homestead law sixty days after the date hereof, but shall not become subject to entry, filing, selection, or other form of appropriation until the expiration of thirty days from the date when the lands become subject to settlement, and no person will be permitted to gain or exercise any right whatever under any settlement or occupation begun prior to the date for settlement fixed herein.

Restoration No. 36.

Including portions of Power-site Reserve No. 30.

Sixth Principal Meridian, Wyoming.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

An application by the Big Horn Railroad Company (Lander 04083) for right of way traversing certain lands included in Power-site Reserves Nos. 115 and 137, Big Horn River, Wyoming, was referred to the Survey by the Commissioner of the General Land Office October 19, 1910 for report as to "whether the allowance of the company's application will interfere with the development of power or be incompatible with the reservation of the lands involved for power purposes, and if so which would best subserve public interests".

An application has also been filed for right of way for a reservoir for power development with a dam on the Big Horn River opposite the lower end of this section of the railroad. It is reported by an engineer of the Survey that this dam is now under construction. When completed it will have a height of 50 feet and will flood a large area now withdrawn for power purposes. It is thought that this dam while by no means the highest that could be constructed at this site represents an economic utilization of the site, since any material raise of the back water would flood large additional areas of agricultural land.

It is desirable that these withdrawals continue in force

It is thought that this dam while by no means the highest that could be constructed at this site represents an economic utilization of the site, since any material raise of the head water would flood large additional areas of agricultural land.

It is desirable that these withdrawals continue in force

in order that the power development may remain under Government control, but since the construction of the railroad line as proposed will not interfere with such development, I recommend the submission to the President for appropriate action of the following order of restoration, permitting right of way to be granted the railroad, but retaining title to the flowage lands in the United States.

Sir:

An application has been filed by the Fremont Lake Irrigation Company for right of way for a canal which crosses certain lands withdrawn as water-power sites on Pine Creek, Wyoming, and also an application by the State of Wyoming for the segregation under the Carey Act of the lands to be irrigated from this canal.

Through the withdrawn lands there is a stretch of rapids which together with the fact that regulation of the flow may be easily secured by a dam at the outlet of Fremont Lake, a few miles above, makes this a valuable power-site. The diversion point of the Fremont Irrigation Company's canal is above the withdrawal, but it is necessary, in order to reach the irrigable land to cross certain of the tracts withdrawn. The applicant has submitted data which indicate that the canal will be at such elevation that its construction will not interfere with future power development. The irrigation project is considered faasible and its construction will be of great value to the region affected. I therefore recommend the submission to the President for appropriate action of

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

A recently completed field examination of lands included in Power Site Reserve No. 115, Big Horn River, Wyoming, indicates that a portion of the lands included therein are not valuable for the conservation of water-power and I therefore recommend that the following order of restoration be submitted to the President for appropriate action. The area involved in this restoration is 10,032 acres of which 4,679 acres were reported entered.

Very respectfully,

Director.

Sir:

Executive Order of December 2, 1909, created a temporary power-site withdrawal including 11,264 96 acres of land in the drainage basin of No Wood Creek, Wyoming, and this withdrawal was continued as Power Site Reserve No. 76 by Executive Order of July 2, 1910. Subsequent to field examination which indicated that certain lands in the withdrawal were not valuable for power purposes, Order of Restoration No. 18 was issued on October 7, 1910. This order affected 9,686 9 acres of land, the remainder of the withdrawn land being held until further information should indicate whether it was of value for power-site purposes. It now appears that this land involves no valuable water-power sites and I therefore recommend that the following order of restoration be submitted to the President for appropriate action. The area involved in this proposed restoration is approximately 1,578 1600 Patton 3/6/40 acres.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

Investigation of lands included in Power Site Reserve No. 5, Green River, Wyoming, indicates that the portion of the lands included therein described in the following order of restoration while having very little value for power-site purposes are within a possible reservoir site. The probability of this site being utilized, however, appears very remote. These lands form a comparatively small portion of the reservoir site, have some agricultural value, and petition has been made for the restoration of certain of these lands by persons desiring to make homestead entry thereon. I therefore recommend that the said order of restoration be submitted to the President for appropriate action. The area involved is approximately 1,720 1745.22 acres.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

In pursuance of Departmental order of April 25, 1912, providing for description according to new surveys of lands included in withdrawals and in order to eliminate from Power Site Reserve No. 13, Owl Creek, Wyoming, certain lands which investigation indicates to be not valuable for the conservation of water power, I recommend the issuance of the following order of modification and restoration (Order of Modification and Restoration No. 205, Owl Creek), which reduces the area withdrawn 200 acres, and conforms the description of the lands to the official plat.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

The Encampment Special topographic map shows Encampment River and tributaries to have steep slopes and the lands adjacent to these streams were accordingly withdrawn as power-site lands in Power Site Reserve No. 169, approved December 28, 1910. In 1923, an engineer of the Geological Survey made a field examination of the lands and found no favorable reservoir sites on Government Creek and North Fork of Encampment River. Without storage the low-water flow of these streams is too small to make power development feasible. It was also found that certain lands in Secs. 24 and 25, T. 14 N., R. 89 W., 6th P. M., Wyoming, were too high above Encampment River to be valuable for power-site purposes. The portion of the lands included in Power Site Reserve No. 169 described in the following order of restoration (Order of Restoration No. 377, Encampment River and Tributaries, Wyoming), involving an area of approximately 3,023 acres, are the lands found not valuable for the

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

An engineer of the Geological Survey made a field examination of lands near Torrey Creek and Torrey Lake, which are tributary to Wind River, Wyoming, in 1923. His report shows that certain of the lands which are withdrawn as power sites are situated at elevations so much higher than Torrey Lake that they are not valuable for power-site purposes. The tract included in Power Site Reserve No. 445, Torrey and Warm Spring Creeks, Wyoming, described in the following order of restoration (Order of Restoration No. 386, Torrey Creek Basin, Wyoming), involving an area of approximately 40 acres, is not valuable for the conservation of water power. I therefore recommend that the order of restoration be submitted to the President for appropriate action.

Sir:

An engineer of the Geological Survey made a field examination of lands near Torrey Creek and Torrey Lake, which are tributary to Wind River, Wyoming, in 1922. His report shows that portions of the lands which are withdrawn as power sites are situated at elevations so much higher than Torrey Lake that they are not available for power-site purposes. The lands included in Power Site Reserve No. 448, Torrey and Twin Spring Creeks, Wyoming, described in the following order of restorations (Order of Restoration No. 886, Torrey Creek Lands, Wyoming), involving an area of approximately 60 acres, is not valuable for the conservation of water power. Memorandum

To: Director, Geological Survey

21 F.R. 2128

From: Chief, Conservation Division

Subject: Power Site Cancellation No. 110, affecting Power Site Classification No. 375, recommended

On February 28, 1955, the Federal Power Commission called upon the Geological Survey for report and recommendation on the application of Virgil F. Kilburn for restoration of certain lands in T. 39 N., R. 94 W., Sixth Principal Meridian, Wyoming, withdrawn in Power Site Classification No. 375. The Commission suggested that other lands withdrawn in this classification in the vicinity of the completed Boysen Dam and Reservoir should be considered for restoration.

In its reply to the Federal Power Commission the Survey recommended that the lands included in the attached order should be restored. They are not being used or occupied at present for waterpower purposes nor is any further waterpower development contemplated in this area. The Boysen Reservoir supplies water for irrigation and for a power plant with an installed capacity of approximately 15,000 KW and also provides storage for flood control and silt retention.

The Federal Power Commission in its determination, DA-129-Wyoming, dated February 17, 1956, stated that it has no objection to cancellation of Power Site Classification No. 375 insofar as it pertains to the lands included in the attached order.

I recommend approval of the attached order (Power Site Cancellation No. 110, Bighorn River, Wyoming).
